Schirra Has Space Sniffles

Pilots Coping With Minor Difficulties

By PAUL RECER
AP Aerospace Writer
SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 7's astronauts juggled several minor space problems today as they aimed for a rendezvous with the second stage of the Saturn 1B rocket—and a debut on space television.

The "slight problems" brought on no talk of possible cancellation of the 11-day training maneuver for future moon expeditions, said flight director Gene Kranz.

Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr., capsule commander, reported a high flying case of the sniffles and was directed to take some nose drops.

"I advised him to take a decongestant," Dr. John Ziegleschmid told a press briefing. "All it does is shrink the membranes and stop a runny nose."

The medical officer also said the three astronauts apparently had solved the failure to get early reports of biomedical data from instruments attached to their suits. They simply undressed and reconnected the instrument cords for better connections, he said.

SLIGHT PROBLEM
Late Friday the capsule reported the primary environmental control system which bleeds heat into space was freezing outside the spacecraft. The pilots cut off the system and let the space radiators drain off the excess heat generated by the craft's fuel cells. Control center officials said it was only a "slight problem" and would not affect operations.

Schirra, Air Force Maj. Donn F. Eisele and civilian astronaut Walter Cunningham enjoyed the roominess of the Apollo space cabin, compared to the confines of the two-man Gemini capsules and the one-man Mercury flights. All three got their first night's sleep on special bunks.

Earlier American space pilots dozed in their work clothes, jammed upright in their cramped quarters.

Eisele took his nap first, then he stood watch while Schirra and Cunningham slept.

The trio guides their spacecraft today through a series of delicate maneuvers and back to a rendezvous with the second stage of the booster that flawlessly drilled them into orbit Friday.

The rendezvous simulates a lunar rescue of the first Americans to land on the moon. On a lunar flight, the lunar module will ascend from the moon's surface and use a radar system to rendezvous with the command and service module "mother ship."

'MAMA' TO RESCUE
But in case the lunar module becomes trapped in a lunar orbit, "Mama" will have to come to the rescue. The rescue calls for the command and service module pilot to guide his ship to the lunar module using optical and sextant tracking and dock, permitting the lunar astronauts to transfer to the command ship.

Today's plans were for Schirra to fly the Apollo 7 spacecraft as close as possible to the booster stage, called the S4B, but not actually dock. It was expected the rocket hull would be tumbling through the space void, forbidding the Apollo 7 crew to get much closer than 200 feet.

The crew also turns on the Apollo television system for the first time. Paul Haney, the voice of Apollo control, said the crew would start 10 minutes of television transmission from space during a pass over the United States.

Haney said the crew would probably be in an eating period when the television transmitting begins.

The Apollo 7 crew's menu for breakfast today, their third meal in space, included bacon squares, cereal cubes and cinnamon toast.

Militant SDS Holds Convention

Call For Protests On Election Day

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — The Students for a Democratic Society's national council has received a call for a nationwide student strike and big city demonstrations coinciding with the Nov. 5 presidential election.

The proposal was outlined in a paper circulated Friday night among SDS members attending the opening session of a week-end conference on the University of Colorado campus. It, and a bundle of other suggestions, are due for discussion at workshops and plenary sessions today and Sunday.

The radical student organization sparked last spring's disorders at Columbia University campus and other colleges across the country. The plan to be considered by the SDS's national council calls for local chapters to join in organizing "a national strike of high school and college students on Nov. 4 and 5."

It also urges "large militant SDS regional demonstrations in major cities." These demonstrations, the document said, would "make visible the wide extent of opposition to this election" and show "why all elections under the present system are fraudulent."

'SEEDS OF REVOLUTION'

The student strike and big city demonstrations would help in "developing the seeds of revolution," added the paper signed by Bernardine Dohrn, one of SDS' three national secretaries, and John Jacobs and Jeff Jones, SDS members from New York.

As the SDS began its weekend conference, it was at odds with university officials over whether the meetings would be open to all newsmen—including photographers and television crews.

University President Joseph Smiley first accepted, then rejected, an SDS demand that cameras and tape recorders be barred from the meeting rooms. SDS officials said the organization still planned to allow only the "writing press" to attend the meetings.

Smiley rescinded his decision banning cameras and tape recorders after consulting with an undisclosed number of university regents, who decreed earlier all meetings must be open to the press and the public.

Shortly before Smiley changed his mind, one regent, Joseph Coors of Golden, said if the university president "does not uphold the intention of the regents in this instance, then I am going to ask for his immediate resignation."

Panama Ruler Is Overthrown

PANAMA (AP) — A military coup overthrew the 11-day-old government of President Arnulfo Arias Friday night and rebel leaders consolidated their hold on the country Saturday by naming a two-man junta.

Arias, 67, vowing to return, took refuge in the U.S.-controlled Canal Zone with most of his cabinet ministers. It was the third time in three decades he had been deposed by the National Guard, Panama's army.

Lt. Col. Omar Torrijos identified himself and Maj. Boris Martinez, commander of the Chiriqui Province Military zone, as coup leaders. Torrijos accused Arias of planning a dictatorship.

Heading the new two-man junta is Col. Bolivar Urrutia, named by Arias only Thursday to head the National Guard. Torrijos said.

Frat Party Raided By Gang

Five Hurt In Union Pier Fracas

UNION PIER — Four youths and a state trooper were injured early this morning, and seven other persons were arrested during what was described as an apparent gang attack on a party, being held here by students in a Lake Michigan college fraternity.

Officers from the New Buffalo post were called to the scene near Betty's Villa pier late about 12:15 a.m., and were assisted by Berrien county court's deputies, and police from Three Oaks and Chikaming township.

Injuries sustained by the partying youths were listed as assorted lacerations, bruises and possibly some broken ribs, said roopers, adding that items confiscated from those arrested included knives, clubs, chains and two shotguns. No shots were fired at students, nor were any knife wounds reported, police said.

CARS DAMAGED

During the fracas, four autos occupied by the students were damaged, one extensively with all windows broken and dents placed in the body.

Reported injured were Lynn Williams, 20, Kenneth Kirby, 20, and Robert Cottrell, 19, all of Buchanan, and John Jasper, (See back page, sec. 1, col. 1)

Numbers Racket Reported In BH

Arrest Four, Seize Slips

Benton Harbor police Friday intercepted an alleged numbers racket and arrested four persons on charges of conspiracy to violate state gaming laws.

Det. Sgt. Alfred Edwards said evidence indicated the policy game is based outside the city and authorities in another jurisdiction will be notified.

An investigation started Sept. 18 into the placing of policy bets in the city. Surveillance of a car indicated slips were being carried out of town for the determination of winners by the spinning of a wheel or the pulling of numbers, Edwards reported.

Police confiscated about $250 and 53 slips with various numbers.

Edwards said a policy operation involves runners who collect the bets and a pickup person who takes them to where the wheel is spun. Operating twice daily, six days a week a "small scale" game could have a potential handle of about $2,000 a week or $100,000 a year.

Arrested in a car at 6:45 p.m. at North Winans street and Highland avenue were:

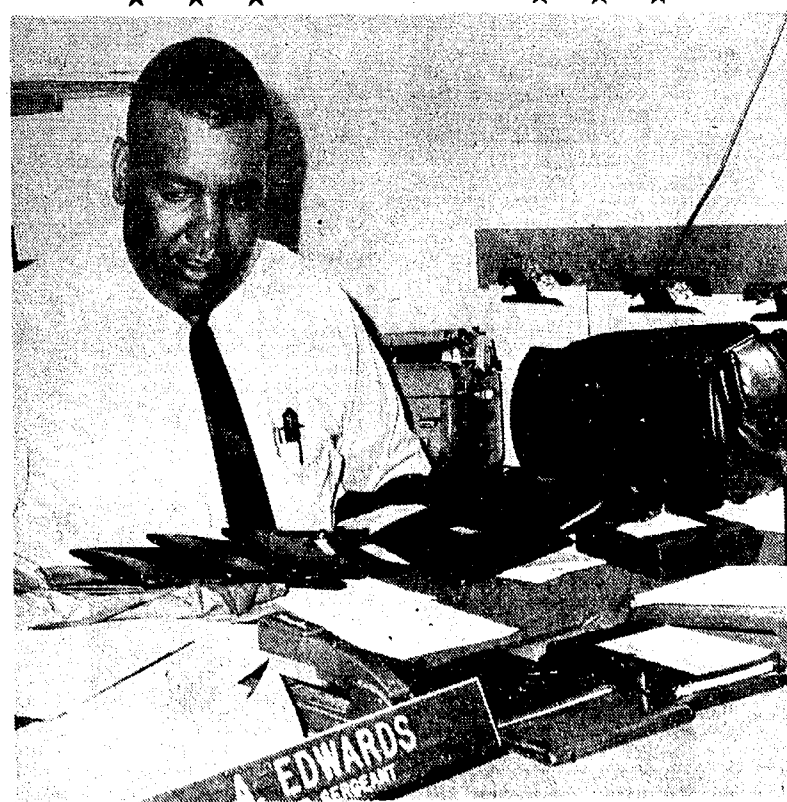

Theodore Turner, 34, Box 299, Main street, Covert; Lola Perkins, 47, 749 East Main street;

Ollie Lee Richman, 34, of 785 East Main, and Larry Eugene Wysinger, 27, 419 Brunson avenue, all of Benton Harbor.

Wysinger also was booked on a charge of possession of obscene photographs.

Conspiracy to violate state gaming laws is a circuit court misdemeanor. Possession of obscene photographs is a simple misdemeanor.

The arrests were made by five officers armed with a search warrant — Sgt. Edwards, Dets. James Ward, Bill Matthews, Marvin Fiedler and Elmer Rhodes.

Just Like Wild West

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Two masked bandits pulled off a Jesse James-style train robbery here early today.

Sheriff's deputies said the armed robbers hopped onto the caboose of a slow-moving freight train on the city's west side, relieved the startled conductor of $65, and hopped off the moving train.

Do TV Cameras Lie?

Well, Not Really, But---

President Johnson's commission on violence is scheduled to hold open hearings in Washington on the mass media next week Wednesday and Thursday. Some good can come out of the hearings if they spark better self-policing by the news media. A great deal of mischief can be wrought if Congress decides to go overboard in the area of news censorship.

The U.S. Constitution has proved usually effective in keeping government hands off the printed word. This seems likely to continue, since books, newspapers and magazines require no government license. But radio and TV are different in that they operate under franchises from federal agencies. Many a politician, therefore, eyes control of TV and radio output as a desirable — and possible — next step. Public ire runs high against TV just now, too, because of alleged bias in coverage of the Democratic National Convention at Chicago.

So TV may just now be the principal news medium in danger of government censorship. But, in the long run, acceptance of censorship over any of the media threatens them all.

TV's newness, coupled with its inherent vigor and range, mean that it will be a while before the medium reaches mature editorial judgment. It's interesting, meanwhile, to see what's happened to TV during its youth.

Do cameras lie? Can the television medium convey an honest news message? These questions have been hotly debated since the police-demonstrator violence in Chicago last August. There are no pat answers.

Television executives maintain that the camera records "what really happens." Richard Salant, president of CBS news, defended his network's coverage of the Chicago violence by saying that "The pictures and sounds of the Chicago police department in action speak for themselves louder than any words of ours or any attempt by Mayor Daley and others to find a scapegoat."

But television cameras, it is charged, can change the nature of an event by their very presence. Many a listless peace demonstration has been galvanized into furious life by the arrival of TV crews. Thus, the film segment that appears on the television news program shows the truth — but not the whole truth.

Furthermore, it is sometimes difficult to distinguish between major and minor news stories on TV. "It is one of the limitations of television," Sophy Burnham recently wrote in "New York" magazine, "that since the screen can accommodate only one thing at a time, everything that gets on acquires special significance, and no event is less important than another."

Television coverage of violence came under sharp criticism after the Detroit and Newark riots of 1967. TV newsmen in Detroit made frequent reference to snipers who were, it turned out, largely nonexistent. In Newark, a Negro was asked by a TV reporter, "When do you think the next riot will be and where?"

Lapses like these led the National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders to conclude in its report of last March that "Elements of the news media failed to portray accurately the scale and character" of the 1967 riots.

Television has taken to heart the commission's recommendation that it devote more coverage to the underlying causes of civil disorders and less to inflammatory harangues by black militants. Stokely Carmichael and Rap Brown, who used to appear often in TV newscasts, are rarely seen nowadays.

But the criticism continues. Philip Geyelin, editorial page editor of the "Washington Post," reported last spring that a quiet group of Negroes watching a fire during the April riot in the nation's capital became a fist-shaking mob when a TV camera crew arrived on the scene. Drew Pearson, commenting on Geyelin's article a few days later, asserted that "thousands of Negroes watching this drama on TV had no idea it was chiefly inspired for the benefit of the TV audience. So the rioting spread."

Similar criticism arose out of the disorders at the democratic National Convention. But John Corporon, vice president for news at Metromedia Television, said that, in his opinion, the presence of television cameras at Chicago "acted as a brake" on police who might have taken even stronger action against the demonstrators in the absence of TV's watchful eye.

Television may never be able to satisfy its critics. Dr. Harold Basowitz, a New York University psychologist, believes that news media, by reporting violent events, frustrate the human desire for tranquility. "The media, then, become objects of attack, for they do not allow us the luxury of pretending the problems do not exist. We turn on the media as though they created the problems."

This, incidentally, is just as true of newspapers as it is of television.

Apparently some scientists, at least, are less than convinced by those television commercials which feature a young tyke proclaiming to the world that he has fewer cavities than someone else. They, the scientists, are still looking for a cavity preventive.

Some of them think they may have found it. According to Dr. Seymour J. Kreshover, director of the National Institute of Dental Research, tooth decay is a disease which may be completely preventable within 10 years.

The institute, a unit of the National Institutes of Health, is forging a determined attack on the problem using the latest weapon, microbiology. Discoveries in recent years have isolated two types of bacteria as the culprits in tooth decay and scientists are now aiming their punches at those bacteria.

Studies on animals have shown an enzyme called dextranase to be effective in destroying dental plaque, a sticky substance produced by the strains of streptococcus bacteria. These bacteria are considered one of the prime agents of decay.

Effectiveness of the enzyme is now being tested on man both by the institute and by a private drug firm.

Other research groups are tackling plaque formed by another group of bacteria called diphtheroids. Sugar in the diet has been implicated as a necessary ingredient for action by at least one of the species of bacteria.

The prospects of abolishing a disease which afflicts an estimated 98 percent of the American populace is an exciting one, even if the ailment is the somewhat unglorious one of tooth decay.

Sudden breakthroughs in technology, such as the discovery of dextranase in this instance, are continuously opening new vistas in the field of medicine.

The tremendous sums and energies put into research in the last decade are paying off handsomely.

Medicine is still faced by some of the most obdurate challenges, but feats of the past and present make it obvious that most remaining obstacles to good health can be removed within a relatively short span of human history.

Siberia spans nine time zones, yet holds fewer residents than New York State and New England combined, the National Geographic says.

LMC TO OPEN ON MONDAY
—1 Year Ago—
Lake Michigan college will open its fall semester Monday, five weeks behind schedule. A prolonged stalemate between the board of trustees and faculty over teaching contract terms was broken late Wednesday when the two sides agreed to binding arbitration of their differences by a panel from the Area Resources Improvement Council. The council, a group of Berrien county business and industrial leaders, announced at 11 o'clock last night that its offer to arbitrate the differences had been accepted by both parties.

According to faculty spokesman Robert Blann this morning, five major issues were unresolved between the two parties when they agreed to accept binding arbitration.

AUTUMN DAWN

The gay transient beauty of October,
Giving Autumn a most colorful name,
Setting each forest and tree aglow,
With a bright aura of leafy flame,

A soft crimson glow over the hilltop,
Spreads over each rooftop and lawn,
Touching each dew-drenched blade of grass,
With the first tender kiss of dawn,

A misty haze spreads over the lake,
Like a blanket of soft azure blue,
The mist fades, and a bright new day,
Greets the awakening earth anew.

The woodland creatures awake from slumber
Each tree with bright color aflame,
As each ruby-red tint of sunrise,
Gives Autumn dawn a most colorful name.

Though I love the fresh green of springtime,
And the summer's clear skies of bright blue,
Nothing can match the transient majesty,
Of an Autumn dawn's gay rose-tinted hue.

Constitutionally this nation is not a democracy but a republic. Therefore, your superiors reserve the right to print only in the interest of your own opinions and interests.

Election year, is or should be and may well be, the most important year of our lives for generations to come if we allow a communist overthrow of our government. It is with this awful thought in mind that many of us also reserve the right to refuse to subscribe to your one-sided political type news blitz.

There are even out-of-state papers that print our local news and believe it or not they do not ask us to support carbon copy twins under different party names.

WANTS TO RETURN TO 'SLOW' TIME

On Nov. 5 we will have a chance to reject double daylight saving time and I hope for good. So let's go all out and get normal time back again. We would do our farmers a big favor and millions of others who are against this ridiculous change of time. Before we had six months of smooth sailing when Illinois, Indiana, and Michigan kept the same time schedule during the summer months and when trains, TV, radio and travelers, were working in perfect harmony.

So be sure to look on the ballot for Proposal No. 2. Most likely it will be put in a corner and such small print we have to use magnifying glasses to find it. Citizens, go to work and let's abolish double daylight saving time for all time. Vote "No" on Proposal No. 2.

Halloween is also around the corner and I would like to propose to parents and children alike to take care. Let's make destruction. Children should be Halloween a night for fun — not told to respect other people's property. The small children can't do any harm. They are having fun with their tricks and treat. But those big boys who should know better and ride around in cars drive down fences, street signs, rip up posts, break windows in homes, automobiles and street lights. What for? Is Halloween a day for destruction? It sure looks like it.

Let's make it a happy Halloween for all this year and for years to come.

BORN TODAY

James Ramsey MacDonald headed the British government during some of the critical moments in the history of the Commonwealth. He was the organizer of the first Labour Ministry in the history of Britain.

Mac Donald was born in town of Lonsdale, Morayshire, Scotland, in 1866. He took sufficient schooling to qualify as a teacher, but, at the age of 20, he went to London with the hope of becoming a journalist. Instead, he became secretary to a member of Parliament and turned toward a political career.

During World War I, he was a consistent pacifist and maintained a steadfast opposition to war. After the war, the tide of public opinion turned against militaristic principles and he was returned to Parliament.

He took the post of prime minister and the portfolio of secretary for Foreign Affairs in 1924 and formed a Labor cabinet. MacDonald came into power again with the elections of 1929 and this came at the edge of the crisis of the post-war years.

His foreign policy was marked by a rigid determination to maintain world peace. But, the effect of the depression and his policies in dealing with it brought about a rift with his own party that led his former adherents to call him "traitor."

Eventually, on June 7, 1935, five months before his death, he resigned his post as prime minister, but was retained in the Cabinet of his successor, Stanley Baldwin, as Lord President of the Council. Failing health in May caused his resignation from public service.

Others born today include Joe Cronin, actor Sir Godfrey Tearle and gyroscope inventor Elmer Sperry.

Born on Oct. 13th were cartoonist Herbert Block, author Ernest K. Gann, Lily Langtry and actors Yves Montand and Cornell Wilde.

... And Speaking Of Your Health

The threat of high blood pressure has been remarkably reduced during the past fifteen years by the discovery of a wide variety of new drugs which can be safely administered to reduce the pressure. There are a number of different types of hypertension or high blood pressure, not all of which are affected by these drugs.

Physicians carefully weigh the problems in each patient before they decide whether or not the blood pressure should be lowered by drugs and to what extent and how rapidly it should be done. Such careful consideration can only be based on a doctor's long experience.

At a recent convention of the American Medical Association in Atlantic City, a new experimental drug was reported by a team of physicians from a Cleveland clinic. Dr. William E. Miller has been using this special drug, diazoxide, in patients who had not responded to any of the other drugs now commonly in use.

The drug is given by injection and in carefully chosen cases it can reduce the blood pressure almost immediately without upsetting the functioning of the heart or the kidneys.

Diazoxide was used in a large group of carefully selected cases and the lowering effect on the blood pressure occurred within five minutes.

The new drug will now be tested and studied for a complete understanding of why it works, how safe it is and when it will be ready to be used by many of the physicians who came to the convention to learn about these and other new advances in medicine and surgery.

The homosexual plays an important and constructive role in every phase of our society. Many are identified with the creative arts — music, painting, literature, architecture, designing, and leave a permanent mark on the intellectual growth and accomplishments of our nation.

Homosexuals have become the standard target by the inept and mediocre person and by those who exploit them as the objects of witless and naive humor.

The complex psychological reasons for homosexuality have been explained by every conceivable school of psychiatry. They all differ; each school vainly believing that its answer is the only definitive one.

Dr. Charles W. Socarides, a leading psychiatrist in New York City, now calls for the establishment of a National Center for Sexual Rehabilitation. Here doctors can be trained to deal with every phase of the homosexuals' problem when they voluntarily apply for dignified study. Dr. Socarides believes that homosexuality must be considered a mental disorder that can be treated and cured in more than 50% of the cases if it is sincerely considered a medical disorder. He believes that homosexuality can be formed by very early psychological damage, perhaps even in the first three years of life. A center for the total study of the total human being who incidentally is a homosexual, is imperative for the many who plea for such help.

Opening lead — ten of diamonds.

It is true that in most hands the play by both sides is virtually automatic and the result is more or less preordained.

But in some deals there is a considerable amount of parry and thrust, and the outcome depends on how well each side acquires itself during the play. Here is an extreme case of this type.

South got to four spades and West led the ten of diamonds. Had East won with the ace, South would have been unable to get out without yielding a trick to West's ten of trumps.

So, instead, South led a club towards dummy at trick six. Had West gone up with the ace and returned a club, declarer would have come home by forcing out the ace of spades.

But West played low on the club lead, won the trump return from dummy with the ace, returned a low club to partner's jack, and then could not be stopped from defeating the contract when East returned a diamond. His ten of spades — which South had striven so hard to neutralize — finally came into its own.

McCoy, 41, brings to the prosecutor's office experience as a former assistant prosecutor, civil and criminal private practice and as justice of the peace for six years in Benton township. He is also a Benton township trustee.

He and his wife, Mary, and three children live at 989 Closson drive, Benton township, and McCoy maintains an office at 414 Main street, St. Joseph. McCoy is a 1953 graduate of Albion college and a 1963 graduate of the Detroit College of Law.

His salary will be $6,396. Zaban, 39, an assistant prosecutor since March, 1965, resigned earlier effective Friday to devote full time to private practice at his office in the Fidelity building, Benton Harbor. He is a 1953 graduate of Drake university law school, Des Moines, Iowa. He and his wife, Betty, live at 595 Kublick drive, Benton Harbor.

In devoting his efforts to private practice, Zaban has moved his offices from 125 Pipestone street to a newly remodeled suite on the sixth floor of the Fidelity building where an open house was held yesterday.

Hammond has one full-time chief assistant, Quentin Fulcher, and two part-time assistants, Tat Parish and John Iwanick.

A full-time assistantship at $10,465 annual salary remains vacant because the salary is too low, Hammond said.

The money will be deposited in the senior high band account to finance transportation, meals, scholarships to various music camps and other expenses.

Lagging Divisions Do Better

Annual Dinner Scheduled Tuesday At Schuler's

As five lagging campaign divisions began to pick up steam, hopes for a successful United Community Fund drive looked brighter today.

An unofficial campaign audit held late yesterday at the UCF office showed that the appeal now has 83.1 per cent of its $25,557 goal, with total pledges of $436,690. It was an increase of some $40,000 since Tuesday, when UCF had 75.2 per cent.

Robert W. Brooks, UCF campaign chairman, said that he was greatly encouraged by solid increases in the last three days in five divisions that had previously been far behind. They are the Commercial, Public Services, National Firms, Women's and Construction and Building Trades divisions.

Up until yesterday, only the Industrial, Special Gifts and Professional divisions had been moving ahead on schedule. But now, Brooks noted, all of the eight divisions appear to be gaining momentum.

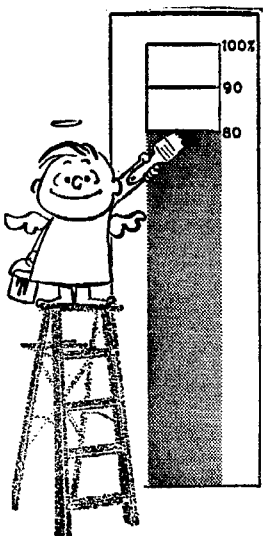

The most impressive increase was made by the Commercial division, which had only 25.1 per cent on Tuesday but now stands at 59.6 per cent. Public Services moved from 43.7 to 74.3 in the three-day period, and solid increases also were shown in the Women's, National Firms and Construction units.

"I'm greatly encouraged by this progress," Brooks said. "If our volunteers keep this pace up, I'm certain we'll make our goal. I have heard of only three major giving decreases in the entire community, and there are dozens of employee groups that are giving us the 10 per cent increase in giving that we need so badly."

The annual United Fund achievement dinner will be held next Tuesday at 6:45 p. m. at Win Schuler's restaurant, Stevensville. It is donated to UCF volunteers through the courtesy of Schuler's.

United Fund volunteers are asked to call the UCF office, 983-6515, by noon Monday to make dinner reservations. Because of limited seating, there will not be room for spouses of campaign workers.

Brooks called for a continued step-up in the campaigning pace on Monday and Tuesday. He asked all volunteers to complete their work and bring their reports to the UCF office, 305 Lake Boulevard, St. Joseph, on either day. Reports also will be accepted at the achievement dinner.

"If we're going to meet this goal, we need a $90,000 effort in the next few days," Brooks said. "And we need an all-out push by volunteers, employers and employees."

"Any volunteer who has a problem—or who wants report envelopes picked up—should call the UCF office. I hope that employers who see their company campaigns lagging will take personal charge. And, of course, we need more of the splendid increases in giving that we've already seen from so many employees in the Twin Cities area."

Yesterday's report showed that Special Gifts leads all divisions with $40,493 in pledges, for 91.9 per cent of its $44,450 goal. The Professional division, with 87.3 per cent, has taken over second place on pledges of $18,336 toward a goal of $21,000.

READY FOR BUSINESS: Roger Albanese waits on one of the first customers at his newly opened pharmacy in Harding's Shopping Mart on John Beers road east of Stevensville. Albanese, formerly a pharmacist at Battlement Drugs in Fairplain, said that this is the first pharmacy in the Twin City area located in a super market. Albanese, who is leasing the pharmacy section from Harding's, says that it is approximately 60 per cent stocked now and by the middle of next week will be completely equipped. (Staff photo)

The big Industrial division is a step behind, with $311,027, for 8.6 per cent of its $359,000 goal. Other division reports are: Public Services—$24,884 of a $33,500 goal, for 74.3 per cent; —women—$9,320 of a $13,000 goal, for 71.7 per cent; Construction—$6,640 of a $10,000 goal, for 66.4 per cent; Commercial—$15,809 of a $26,507 goal, for 59.6 per cent; and National Firms—$10,177 of an $18,100 goal, for 56.2 per cent.

The annual UCF benefit day at Henry's Drive-In and Julie's Coin-Op, both in the Fairplain Plaza, netted $271 at Henry's and $77 at Julie's. The event, which was held Thursday, brought the UCF Women's division a total of $348, compared with only $199 in 1967. Mrs. John Steeb, Benton township chairman for the Women's division, was in charge of the event.

Robbers Take $419 At Hotel

Milner Clerk Gives Up $278 Of His Own

Two men pulled off a daring robbery at knife-point last night at the registration desk of the Milner Motor Hotel, 250 East Main street, in downtown Benton Harbor.

The bandits escaped with a total of $419, of which $278 was taken from Nesbort "Bob" Dean, 45, night clerk who was on duty at the time. The rest of the money was from the hotel cash box.

The loot from Dean included a $100 bill. Dean, who usually starts work at 11 p. m., had come in earlier and was assisting Mrs. Leon (Doris) Fowler, 31, behind the registration counter when the robbery occurred about 10:30 p. m.

LAST NIGHT

It was Mrs. Fowler's last night of work at the hotel. Her husband has been manager of the Milner here and is slated to be transferred to Des Moines, Ia., in the Milner chain. Dean told Benton Harbor Det. Harry Lenardson that he was standing behind the registration counter with his back to the lobby, working on some filing cards and Mrs. Fowler was seated behind the counter working.

A man then grabbed Dean and held a knife to his neck. The bandit then lifted Dean's billfold.

The other robber went around behind the counter and advised Mrs. Fowler not to scream. He then told her to open the locked cash drawer.

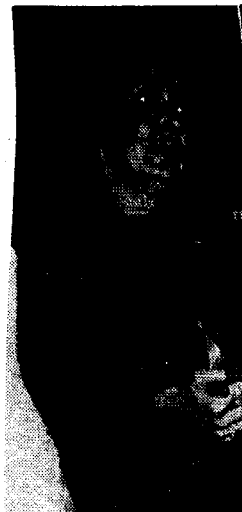

Mrs. Fowler said she started to hand the keys to him, but he told her to open the drawer herself. He grabbed the bills and stuffed them into his pocket leaving the change.

The bandit who held Dean captive, then forced him out a door that leads to the parking lot. Once outside Dean was told to get on the ground and crawl under a vehicle parked near the door and to remain silent. The robbers escaped by running through the parking lot. Mrs.

Fowler scream and ran into the bar in the hotel where she alarmed her husband.

DESCRIPTIONS
Descriptions supplied by the two clerks and a person who saw two similar men in the lobby just before the robbery listed the man with the knife as a Negro male, about 5 feet 7 inches tall, round face, bushy hair and may have had a goatee. He had a dark brown coat.

The other robber, also a Negro male between the age of 25 and 33, was described as tall, approximately 6 feet tall and slim. He was wearing a dark blue coat, dark pants and polished black shoes, and had a goatee.

City and county police searched swamps in the North Shore industrial district after a motorist reported seeing what appeared to be a fleeing man in that area. No suspects were turned up.

Niles Point Avalanche Buries St. Joe, 46-18

By JAKE SHUBINSKI
Staff Sports Writer

A St. Joseph defense that had held its first four opponents to just four touchdowns fell apart at the seams at Dickinson Stadium Friday night.

The result was a 46-18 beating at the hands of the Niles Vikings that put a real damper on St. Joseph's homecoming festivities.

By the time the convertibles and queen candidates started their tour around the field at halftime, St. Joseph fans had seen the Vikings score five touchdowns, four of which came in the second quarter, for a 32-0 halftime lead.

Bear followers also saw offensive halfback and defensive tackle Mark Teachout taken away in an ambulance to Memorial hospital right after the first play of the second quarter.

Teachout was the bottom man on a pileup at the line that stopped Craig Riley for no gain at the Bears' 15. But it was the last play of the night for Teachout.

At the time, it was feared that Teachout had suffered a broken right arm, but X-rays showed no break.

"His arm was badly bruised and he had a pinched nerve," reported coach Ike Muhlenkamp, who also expressed the possibility that Teachout could be ready for next week's game at Penn. Ind.

When Teachout went out, the Bears trailed by 6-0. Then came a scoring spree by sophomore halfback Craig Riley that produced four straight six-pointers.

"I think the injury to Teachout hurt us not only physically but also mentally," said Muhlenkamp.

Niles coach Ed Weede has to be credited with the understatement of the season when he Salvadore hit Greg Ruppel in the end zone on the next play. The Bears drove 65 yards for their last touchdown which came with 5:13 left in the game on a seven-yard toss from Salvadore to Witkowski.

Riley, who gained 105 yards in six carries in the first half, never saw action in the second half. But he did enough damage to last the Bears for a while in the short time he played.

His first touchdown came midway of the opening period on a sweep of his own right end after taking a pitchout from quarterback Bill Haslett. He was almost stopped at the corner, but broke loose and ran 76 yards for the score.

Riley's second touchdown came on a five-yard crash up the middle. No. 3 was a 19-yard sweep of end and No. 4 came on a five yard break off-tackle.

Niles' fifth touchdown came with 1:17 left in the half. Al Rosebush broke through the St. Joseph line to block a punt and Dennis Schuh, a tackle, picked it up and ran it into the end zone.

Niles made it 39-0 on the fifth play they ran in the second half after a blocked punt gave the Vikings the ball at the St. Joseph 39. Fullback Craig Kater went up the middle for the final 19 yards.

The Vikings' last touchdown came early in the fourth period when, with fourth down and two to go at the Bears 30, Kater again found running room through the St. Joseph line.

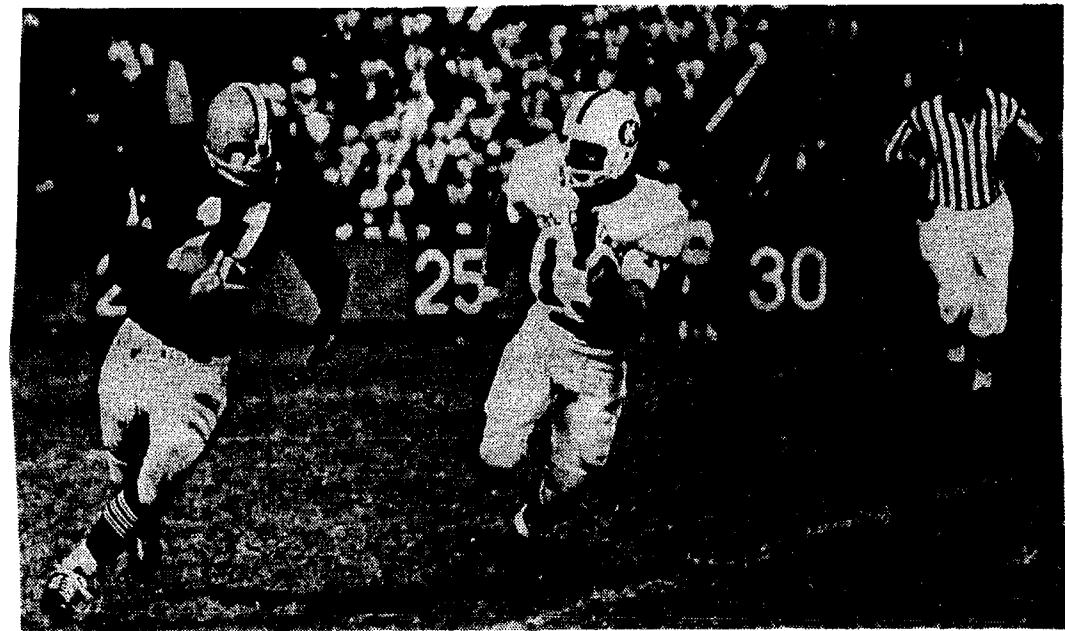

The Bears made only one first down rushing during the game. That came on a 14-yard run by Salvadore in the fourth quarter on a rollout.

Kalamazoo Rally Sinks Harbor, 26-19

TIGER MAKING TRACKS: Benton Harbor halfback Dave Machemer (11) has the jump on Kalamazoo Central's Cordell Gardner as he breaks loose for 21-yard gain in third quarter of Friday night's game. Machemer scored two touchdowns and an extra point and passed for a third TD, but Kalamazoo rallied for 26-19 victory. (Redman & Ames photo)

Machemer, Brown Spark Tigers In Upset Bid

By JIM DeLAND
Sports Editor

Benton Harbor's football team gave a Homecoming crowd everything but a victory to celebrate Friday night.

"We did everything but win. . . I really feel that way," coach Les Butgereit sighed with grim pride after watching highly-favored Kalamazoo Central rally with three touchdowns in the second half to hand the Tigers an agonizing 26-19 defeat at Filstrup Field.

Butgereit was not alone. Even the visiting Maroon Giants admitted they were fortunate to escape with a victory as time ran out on Benton Harbor with the Tigers only six yards away from the goal line.

"Benton Harbor played a helluva ball game," Kalamazoo coach Paul Baldwin said. "I don't see how they can have a losing record. We're happy to get out of here tonight."

Ignited by the offensive fireworks of halfback Dave Machemer and the defensive brilliance of John Brown, the Tigers hit Kalamazoo with a series of scoring punches that would have flattened a lesser team.

Machemer had a hand in all the Benton Harbor scoring as he ran for one touchdown, passed for another and caught Maroons all night with vicious tackling and pursuit.

But in the end the Tigers had no answer for Kalamazoo halfback Bill Stovall, who led the Maroons back from an early 13-0 deficit and then scored the winning touchdown himself with 2:52 left in the game.

By the time the evening was over, Stovall had carried the ball 31 times for 184 yards, caught two passes for 27 yards more and run his season touchdown total to 16 by crossing the Benton Harbor goal line twice.

"He's the finest back I've seen," Butgereit said. "We hit him hard, but we just couldn't stop him. What balance. . . and what second effort! I don't know how many times we had him stopped for a loss and then he broke away for a gain."

Kalamazoo needed every bit of Stovall's ability to get back in the game after being socked with two Tiger touchdowns in the first 16 minutes.

The Maroons fumbled a hand-off on their first play of the game and Brown recovered at the Kalamazoo 26. Three plays later Machemer took a handoff from quarterback Dennis Beaman and fired a strike to end Delaney Ellison, who tumbled into the end zone on the payoff end of a 21-yard pass play.

Linebacker Tommie Sykes blocked the first of two extra point kicks and Kalamazoo promptly drove 55 yards in 13 plays, only to have the Tigers stop Stovall a yard short of the goal line and two inches from a first down to kill the scoring bid.

Deep in the hole, the Tigers were forced to punt and Stovall returned the ball 31 yards before Maurice Miller hauled him down seven yards from the goal line.

After two plays were stopped cold, Kalamazoo quarterback Mark Squires faded back for a pass, was hit from behind and fumbled the ball. Brown picked it up on the Benton Harbor 31 and rumbled 66 yards before Stovall dragged him down from behind at the Kalamazoo 13.

Three plays later Machemer plunged into the end zone and the Tigers were ahead 12-0.

The Tigers were penalized 15 yards on the conversion for failure to wear a mouthpiece — the first of four such penalties during the game — but kicker Kurt Kretschman fired a pass from the 25-yard line and Machemer caught it for the extra point.

A pass interception at the Benton Harbor 31 gave Kalamazoo the ball late in the period and the Maroons beat the clock for their first touchdown, with Squires going the final yard on a rollout.

Stovall cut the gap to 13-12 on a 28-yard run midway through the third quarter, but the Tigers retaliated in less than three said, "Our kids came up here ready to play football."

They excelled in every department, except pass defense in the second half. Weede had an explanation for this when he said, "We had some different linebackers in during the second half."

The first half was a replay of last week's game with Loy Norrix as Niles linebackers were all over John Salvadore before he could spot a receiver. He was able to complete only one of nine tosses for nine yards. He was thrown twice near the end of the half for losses of 14 and 16 yards.

After being held to a minus 17 yards rushing in the first 24 minutes, the Bears took to the air with a vengeance in the second half.

Salvadore threw 15 times and completed 10 for 168 yards and three touchdowns. Backup quarterback Jim Ticknor threw three times during St. Joseph's march to its last touchdown. One was a 25-yard completion to Chad Biasi.

A total of 12 of 27 passes were completed but at least five others were in the hands of receivers and dropped.

The Bears were down 39-0 before they scored their first touchdown on a pass from Salvadore to Mark Witkowski that was good for 35 yards. Witkowski caught the ball on the 15 and stepped into the end zone with five minutes to play in the third quarter.

Ben Baker fell on a Niles' fumble at the Viking 27 with 12 seconds left in the period.

Holland In First

HOLLAND (AP) — Holland High School's football team took over first place Friday night in the Valley Coast League with a 23-7 victory over Muskegon Mona Shores. The two teams had been tied with 2-0 records. Holland quarterback Max Glupker threw touchdown passes of 67 and 49 yards and scooted across from the one-yard-line for a third touchdown. He gained 119 yards, and completed eight of 16 attempted passes.

Arrow, while Hartford now stands at 3-1. Eau Claire (3-0-1) can gain a share of the top spot tonight against St. Joe Catholic (2-1) at Dickinson Stadium.

"Each week we've been getting tougher defensively," commented Panther coach Jerry Barchett. "I thought we could hold them. I was real pleased with our outside play. We got good pursuit."

Hartford gained only 74 yards on the ground in 40 running plays. Tackle Ted Olmstead and guard Gary Tarantino led the Panther tacklers with 10 each. Linebacker Joe Frontezak added nine more.

Watervliet has now allowed no more than one touchdown per game since giving up 13 points to St. Joe Catholic in the season opener. Watervliet opponents have averaged only 112 yards per game this season.

"We met a better ball club tonight," added Hartford coach Ed Gustafson. "They beat us off the line." But Gustafson was already looking forward to another season after starting six underclassmen.

The Watervliet offense, which has been averaging 354 yards per game, was also held somewhat in check with a total of 271 yards against the Indians.

"We were quite conservative tonight," explained Barchett, "but when we did do it, we got the big play. We established the off tackle and then we were able to go outside."

Watervliet took the opening kick off and ran six plays into the line with Kolenko and fullback Dave Day taking turns carrying the ball. But then on a second and seven situation, quarterback John Rinks pitched wide to Kolenko. He skirted right end and scooted 33 yards all alone for the touchdown.

Tarantino kicked the first of his two extra points, and the Panthers were on top for good at 7-0 with 8:47 still left in the period.

Hartford got its only score on the first series of the second quarter in a 58-yard drive in 12 plays which was kept alive by a roughing the kicker penalty on a punt.

The penalty gave the Indians a first down on the Watervliet 38. Quarterback Bob Rice passed 15 yards to Jerry Fisher for the second first down, and tailback Gary Peters got 12 yards on a broken play for a third. The touchdown came on a halfback pass of 18 yards from Fisher to split end Bill Meachum.

Hartford didn't get inside the Watervliet 30 the rest of the night while adding three more first downs for a total of six.

A fumble recovery by Olmstead set up the second Watervliet touchdown in the third quarter. Hartford's Rice went back to pass and fumbled the ball away at his own nine while being crushed by the Panther rush.

An illegal procedure penalty set Watervliet back five yards, but Kolenko knifed over on two runs of seven yards each.

Hartford was again stopped on the series following the kickoff and punted. The Panthers took over on the 39, and while playing with a little more daring with a 14-6 edge, moved to their final touchdown in 11 plays.

A pitchout to Kolenko netted 14 yards, and another 15 yards were tacked on to the play on a face mask penalty against Hartford. Watervliet first pass of the night of 13 yards from Rinks to end Bob McVay then gave the Panthers a first down at the two.

Kolenko was given first crack at the touchdown but gained only one yard. Day then plunged over for the score on the next play with 6:28 left in the game.

Kolenko finished as the game's top runner again with 152 yards in 24 carries for a season total of 809 yards. Day added 82 yards in 17 attempts.

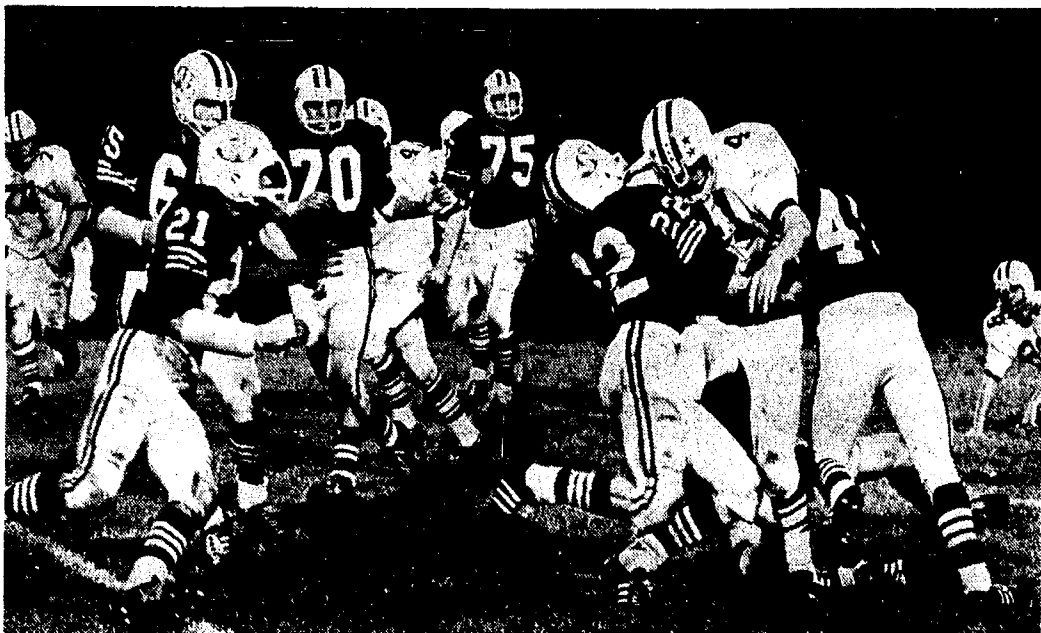

Hartford's Peters, who was averaging 8.5 yards per carry going into the game, got just 28 in 14 runs. Fullback Ken Anderson led the Indians with 41 yards in nine totes.

Watervliet, which is now unbeaten in 13 straight Red Arrow games, goes against Benton Harbor St. John's next week. Hartford will take on Decatur in another conference tilt.

Reed City Belts Coleman, 47-0

REED CITY (AP) — Bill Chupp is the man of the hour in Reed City today. The 160-pound senior halfback pounded across the goal line four times in Reed City's 47-0 rout over Coleman, rolling up 214 yards singlehandedly. Chupp scored five times last week in a Reed City shutout victory over Clare. The Reed City team has a 4-1 record with three shutouts.

WATERVLIET'S CRUSHERS: Hartford's Ken Anderson (41) is stopped cold by Watervliet's Dave Day (22), Craig Camp (40) and a third unidentified Panther tackler. Four more Watervliet defenders—Dave Johnson (21), Joe Frontezak (66),

Don Benjamin (70) and Greg Rudell (75)—close in to make sure the tackle is secure. The Indians gained only 74 yards on the ground, with Anderson getting 41 on nine carries. Watervliet won 20-6. (Staff photo)

Actor Has Lung Removed

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Doctors report actor Robert Taylor, 58, is doing "very well" after removal of his right lung as the result of a fungus infection known as valley fever.

A spokesman at St. Paul's Hospital said it was still undetermined whether small tumors found in surgery Tuesday were malignant.

Taylor, 58, a veteran star, hosts the "Death Valley Days" television show. He is expected to be hospitalized two weeks.

SCENES NEVER BEFORE SHOWN on the AMERICAN SCREEN!

'Case' By Reader Against Broker Won't Hold Water

Q. We bought 20 shares of IBM at one time and another 10 shares shortly thereafter. We feel the broker must have known the price would drop and should have told us to wait. The purchase date on the confirmation doesn't agree with the date on the statement. We received only one stock certificate for 30 shares—not two separate certificates showing the price paid for each. Further, the date on the stock certificate doesn't agree with the date of purchase. In short, we're convinced that the broker only claims he bought the shares when he said he did, but actually bought them later at a lower price.

A.—And I've always felt that a broker's life was just a bowl of cherries!

Here is a collection of complaints, every one of which is completely without foundation:

1.—Neither the broker nor anyone else knew that the price was going to drop. Anyone who knows—for a certainty—that stocks will drop (or rise) could amass all the money in Wall Street in a short time.

2.—The confirmation slip carries the trade date; the monthly statement carries the settlement date, which can be four or more days later.

3.—There is absolutely no difference between one stock certificate for 30 shares and two separate certificates totaling 30 shares.

4.—No stock certificate carries the price paid.

1.—The date on a stock certificate has no relationship to the trade date or the price paid. It can be a week, two weeks, or three months behind the purchase date, depending entirely upon how clogged securities channels are at the moment.

And right now they are jammed up than a free ice cream stand at a kiddie park.

Q.—As an employee of a large corporation I have options on 300 shares of stock around 38. The stock is now nearly double that figure. The option expires next August and I haven't the money to take up the shares. It's all very sad.

A. I wish I had such troubles. Any bank will be glad to advance you the necessary money against your option.

You've got a sure profit there. Sometime before the option expires next August (and don't wait until the last day) go into your banker with the option and see how fast he'll help you take your profits.

Q. You have mentioned utility bonds yielding around 6 1/2 per cent as a good source of income for elderly people not too much concerned with inflation. May these bonds be sold at any time, or must they be held to maturity?

A. These bonds are traded daily on the stock exchanges and over the counter. You can sell any time.

However, I hope you won't buy a bond today with the intention of holding it merely for six months of higher interest. While commission cost for trading bonds is low, the market price spread can be wide if you are talking in terms of only a few $1,000-bonds.

Clark Co. Honored By Magazine

'Most Informative Stockholder Report'

BUCHANAN — Clark Equipment company has been selected to receive a first place award for "the most informative stockholder annual report of the materials handling industry" in the 28th annual report survey sponsored by "Financial World" magazine.

The award for Clark's 1967 annual report marks the second consecutive year the company has won the magazine's bronze "Oscar of Industry." In addition, by winning the materials handling industry classification, Clark qualifies as a candidate for one of 10 silver Oscars, an award the company also won last year.

The bronze Oscar is one of 90 such awards presented annually by the magazine to American companies and Clark was among more than 5,000 companies entering competition.

According to "Financial World," the award is based on content, comprehensiveness and appearance of the annual report and is designed to encourage broader communications between companies and their stockholders.

Clark's 51st annual report was 28 pages with a four color illustration format with an inside cover review of financial highlights, an 11-page financial review, and individual sections on its activities in automotive, mobile and refrigeration products plus reports on other operations.

The bronze Oscar will be presented to Clark at the magazine's annual banquet Oct. 22 in New York "with about 1,200 business leaders from throughout the United States and Canada expected to attend."
